Well done - you managed to remember 12 countries

1. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions below in your own words.

Edward was forty-nine. He was small, thin, stunted man, with a look of narrow cunning, of petty shrewdness. He had been a clerk to Lawyer Ford for thirty five years and had also furtively practised for himself. At the age of fourteen he sat in a grimy room with an old man on one side of him, a copying-press on the other side of him, and a laws-stationer's almanac in front, and he earned half a crown a week. At the age of forty-nine he still sat in the same grimy room and he earned thirty shillings a week. But now he, Edward, was the old man, and the indispensable lad of fourteen, who had once been himself, was another lad, perhaps thirtieth of the dynasty of office boys. Throughout this interminable period he had written the same letters, kept the same accounts, lied the same lies, and thought the same thoughts. In the eyes of the townspeople he was a decent fellow, a confirmed bachelor, an excellent clerk and a thrifty individual.

1. How old was Edward when he started work with Lawyer Ford, and how long had he been at the job?
2. "Interminable" means 'endless'. What do you think made this period seem endless to Edward?
3. How do you know that Edward lived before the present-day?
4. What did people think of Edward?
5. Was Edward married? How do you know?
6. Explain in your own words meaning of:
 - 1/ Stunted
 - 2/ furtively
 - 3/ the indispensable lad
 - 4/ a thrifty individual.

1. Edward ~~is~~ was 14 ^{years old} when he started the job ^{Edward} and has been doing it ~~to~~ ~~till~~ he was 49 for 35 years. ✓
2. Edward's life was interminable because nothing new happened. He lied the same lies he got wrote the same letters he wasn't doing anything now. ✓
3. I know Edward didn't live in the ^{present} present day because ^{used} he was half crowns ^{which} which is old fashion money therefore he could not have ~~of~~ lived nowadays. ✓
4. People thought Edward ^{was} as a decent ^{excellent clerk} excellent clerk and a ^{individual} thrifty ^{meaning a trust} ~~worthy~~ ^{worthy} ✓
5. I know that Edward was not married, because ^{the} in text it says a 'confirmed bachelor', this means a man ^{who} who is not married. ✓
6. ~~These words mean~~ ^{1. Furtively} Furtively means trying to ~~be~~ be sneaky. ✓
✓/ Stunted means ~~as~~ your smaller ^{2/} The indispensable lad means can't get rid of important lads
✓/ A thrifty individual ^{mean} mean a person who is good with money.

Well done, remember to check spellings
