

What do you now know?

1. Who Built it?

Nobody knows They think it's the Beaker people

2. What type of stone is it made out of?

it is made out of 3 different rocks the 1st one that is on top Lintel and the one underneath is Sarsen and the one they used originally was Bluestone

3. When was it made?

It was made about 4000 years ago. Before Romans and any other age that we (meaning people nowadays) know!

4. Why was the Stonehenge built?

Nobody knows, but there is a thought that it was made, so they could tell the time.

5. Where ~~was~~ Stonehenge made?

It is in England near Salisbury and in Wiltshire.

6. Is it on a hill or a flat surface?

It is on a flat surface, but still you can see the sun through it

7. Are the stones meant to be grave stones?

No but they do have dead bodies near them!!!

8. I now know what it's made out of and I know how big it is and a bit about myths. Also about myths, a bit about the shape it was in and a bit of all the reasons why it might of built it. And about the ages, and the answers

Bluestone - from Wales

Lintel - stone that goes on top

Sarsen - stone stood upright, from Marlborough

Avenue - went to River Avon, 20 metres wide and 3km to the river.

Horse Stone - shape of design

Carving - of axes and daggers, maybe from the Greeks

Size - originally Stonehenge was 98m and now 32m

Time - 30 min

Sagar - I found very challenging but it was fun and more I put more effort than I thought but still it was better than ~~see~~ writing the same thing down a million times.

Sanjeev - Sagar was able to answer all his original questions and we were able to write a number of new facts.

Well Done ☆ (ü) ☆

Creative Writing

Write a story about living when Stonehenge was built or used, use the information you have learnt to make the story 'come alive'. Write the story as if you are a farmer and are involved in building or are watching it being built. Think about the weather, the food being eaten and other people (like children).

How It Was Built

"I.P" "ip" "pip"
"Plop"
"OUCH"

It was a sunny day the next morning and a good day for relaxing, but ~~the~~ no farmer Hip was wanting to work and work, till he had rejected it.

Farmer Hip was a calm hardworking man and because he was so good at art and carving it was his duty to carve some nice patterns of things in the rock for Stone designs or as Farmer Hip calls it StoneHedges.

Farmer Hip was working hard, but still very merry. He knew all about the person he was working for a very very unfair person if you didn't work all day he would put you in the dundgen, but even if you did work for him he wouldn't give you any money, and he would tie down whilst eating cheese and would tell you to go faster or "Come ^{on} Lazy!" But this didn't stop Farmer Hip!!!

Farmer Hip wanted to do something different, to some snakes carved on the rocks so he decided to ^{do some} some of his favorite type of knives and weapons so he drew a Greek Knife and a Greek Axe.

Farmer Hip was proud of the King and Ace.
He was just going to start chipping again
when he heard a loud roar he turned around surprised to see his boss (this wasn't normal because nobody ever really sees him get up from his bed). "Did you stop working?" he roared.
"ER...!" Squeaked Farmer Hip.
"NOERS OF TO THE DUNGONS FOR YOU!" roared the boss.
"the the T The The dragon" Farmer Hip said.
"YES!" he screamed loudly.
Farmer Hip ran whilst shouting "AAAAAAAAAAAAA AAAAAA HHHHHHH HHHHHH" but of course because the boss lives around and eats cherries most the time, it was hard for the boss to run, at all!!

Time - 30min

Sagar - I found it really fun and I am going to carry on the story through the topic of Stone Henge. @

Sarjeev - It appears I should have asked for a story plan first, so that the structure of the story is arranged. But Sagar has done a lot of writing in 30 min. WELL DONE ☆☆☆

Art

Draw one scene in your story, try to show the colours and size of Stonehenge when compared to people and animals.
